

Japan Society for Studies in Journalism and Mass Communication

Call for Papers for Special Issue on “Japan”, Asian Journal of Journalism and Media Studies (ISSN2189-8286) no.1 (March 2017)

Theme: Japan

Asian Journal of Journalism and Media Studies (AJJMS) is e-journal published by The Japan Society for Studies in Journalism and Mass Communication(JSSJMC).

AJJMS publishes new scholarly and applied research on the journalism, mass communication, media, telecommunications and cultural industries, and the policy regimes within which they operate. Broadly inclusive and interdisciplinary, the journal welcomes the writing of history, theory and analysis. While our primary focus is Asia and Japan, the journal also aims to provide international perspectives. The JSSJMC already published an inaugural preparatory issue in 2015, which is available on the site <http://www.jmscom.org/en/ajjm/journal.html>

AJJMS seeks submissions for a special issue of no.1(March 2017) that explores journalism and mass communication in Japan. Contributions should ultimately reflect upon the theme of journalism, mass communication, and media in Japan. Consistent with the mission of AJJMS <http://www.jmscom.org/en/ajjm/journal.html>, theme “Japan” are defined broadly to include not only domestic issues in Japan, but also international relations with Japan.

Possible topics may include, but are not limited to : relationship between journalism and the government under Abe administration ; decline of newspapers in Japan ; socio-historical analysis of Japanese media ; usage of IT as new communication tools among young generation in Japan ; the Great East Japan Earthquake and role of media ; Asian media and spread of cool Japan or Japanese pop culture ; News coverage of Japan in Asian countries.....

We hope that journalism and mass communication in Japan are analyzed not only by Japanese academics, but also foreign scholars or critics in this opportunity.
